Info

Concept

Maskul delves into the interplay between sensuous high-contrast forms and solid, low-contrast extremes. The typeface is named after the renowned Czech racehorse “Maskul” (1994–2017), a creature both powerful and delicate, embodying strength and grace.

Design & Use

Maskul is interpolated from 4 extreme masters. The design space is defined by 2 interpolation axes: Contrast "CNTR" and Weight "wght". Maskul is generated into 4 sub-families set a part by amount of contrast.: Maskul Extreme, Maskul High, Maskul Moderate and Maskul Low. Each sub-family contains 6 weights. Glyph widths match across the sub-families. Maskul is designed to cover wide range of use. The elegant Extreme and High contrast styles work the best in display setting, Moderate contrast and Low contrast are suitable for small text sizes. Soon the family will be extended of Italic styles.

The Great Pardubitzer steeplechase is an annual horserace held in the Czech Republic.

It is run over a distance of 3,000 metres (9,800 ft) at Pardubice Racecourse, which lies near the city of Pardubice.

It is one of the most prestigious steeplechases in Europe and regularly attracts participants from around the world.

The race was first run as part of a double event in 1872, but has been run separately since 1900.

It has been run every year since then except during World War I and World War II when it was cancelled due to lack of funds and resources.

In recent years the race has become known as one of the most important steeplechases in Europe.
