Concept

Troppau draws its proportions from geometric sans and engages them with sharp blackletter insets. The fusion of two genres is inspired by historical context of Czech city Opava (Troppau) which evolved with several periods of German influence.

Design & Use

Troppau is interpolated from 4 masters. The design space is defined by 2 interpolation axes: Slant "slnt" and Weight "wght". Based on slant 3 static subfamilies are generated: Troppau, Troppau Slanted and Troppau Extra Slanted. Width of Slanted and Extra Slanted styles matches the width of Upright styles. The pleiad of styles as well as curious details bring distinction to display type and headlines. However open forms and high x-height make Troppau useful also for text setting in small sizes.
